OF THE
HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY
PROVINCE OF NOVA SCOTIA
THIRD SESSION
OF THE FIFTY-EIGHTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY
SESSION 2003

Begun and holden at Halifax on Thursday, the twenty-seventh day of March in the year of Our Lord, two thousand and three in the Fifty Second year of the reign of our Sovereign Lady Queen Elizabeth the Second, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom, Canada and Her Other Realms and Territories Queen, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith.

THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 2003

At 2:00 o'clock p.m. this day, the Members of the House of Assembly being present, Her Honour the Honourable Myra F. Freeman, Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Nova Scotia, came to the Chamber of the House of Assembly, and being seated, was pleased to open the Third Session of the Fifty-Eighth General Assembly with a speech as follows:

Mr. Speaker, Members of the Legislative Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

At this time of great unease in the world, My Government asks that we stand for a moment of prayers and reflection.

That we pray peace soon prevails.

That we reflect on how fortunate we are to live in a peaceful province, in a peaceful country, where people of every nation, every colour, and every belief are welcomed into our homes and into our communities.

Thank you.

Nova Scotians have reason to be proud. Proud of our history, our culture, our spectacular scenery.

Most of all we have reason to be proud of ourselves.

For a small province we are making big inroads on many fronts. In the life and ocean sciences, in the worlds of information technology, in the arts, in business and industry, in preserving and protecting our environment.

We are a talented, capable, and caring people. Living in the best province, in the best country in the world. A fact recounted by so many people who come here. Those who have come here time and time again by choice... those who have arrived unexpectedly through terrible circumstance.

On September 11, 2001 - a day of great sadness and madness in the world - there was also simple goodness, and it could be found right here in the people of Nova Scotia.

From the firefighters from Cumberland County who packed up their gear and headed to Ground Zero the moment they heard the terrible news, to the hundreds of professionals who freely worked round the clock, to the thousands of Nova Scotians who offered their homes and opened their hearts to anxious, weary strangers...Nova Scotians did their province and their country proud.

My Government, once again, extends a sincere thank you to everyone who lend a helping hand.

My Government also extends its deep gratitude to those, who are working to ensure we never again experience the horrors of 9-11. To the men and women who served in Afghanistan and the Persian Gulf, and who are now serving in the Middle East, we are grateful for your sacrifice, your commitment, and your courage.

To the families of Private Nathan Smith and Private Richard Green, Nova Scotia will remember its lost sons for their service to their country, and for their brave efforts to protect the world from terror.

We also remember the late Edmund Morris, Big Donnie MacLeod, Gerald Ritcey, George Riley and Gerald Wamboldt: Nova Scotians who dedicated countless hours and untold efforts to the betterment of their communities, and their province, through public office and private life.

Our province also lost many other talented Nova Scotians, who served their province with great passion and quiet pride. Among them, Larry Uteck, Kate Carmichael, Justice Ted Flinn, Dr. Ruth Johnson, Jean Shaw, Dr. Carrie Best, Grace Gosse, Harvey Webber, Melodie Elliott Clarke, and George Christie.

Nova Scotians were also saddened by the death of Harold Long: a great friend to this Legislature as its Sergeant-at-Arms for 31 years. The longest serving Sergeant-at Arms in the history of the Commonwealth.

As well, we remember the Right Honourable Ray Hnatyshyn as a man who so humbly but proudly served his country as Canada's 24th Governor General, and the Honourable John Shaffner, Nova Scotia's Lieutenant Governor.

My Government also gratefully acknowledges the outstanding contributions made by Nova Scotia's first inductees to the Order of Nova Scotia. As well, we salute the men and women who have been honoured as Nova Scotia's recipients of the Queen's Golden Jubilee Medal, a special tribute for deserving Nova Scotians given in honour of the 50th anniversary of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

On behalf of the people of Nova Scotia, My Government once again extends its deepest sympathies to the Royal Family on the passing of Her Royal Highness The Princess Margaret and Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth The Queen Mother. Our beloved Queen Mum.

A PROUD PAST... A CONFIDENT FUTURE

Nova Scotians have the right to be proud and good reason to be confident. Look at what we are doing. Consider what we are about to do.

The World Junior Hockey Championship exceed all expectations. The East Coast Music Awards were the best ever, and the Nokia Brier was a great success.

Soon, Nova Scotia will, once again, be centre stage as host of the 2003 World Theatre Festival, and at centre ice when the puck drops for the 2004 Women's World Hockey Championships.

We will also welcome tens of thousands of visitors to Nova Scotia as we begin a three-year celebration of the proud history, rich culture, and the tremendous contributions of Nova Scotia's Acadians. Dozens of events are already planned from Argyle to Arichat. And next summer, as the centrepiece of our Acadian celebrations and in recognition of the 400th anniversary of European settlement in our province, Nova Scotia will host the Congrès mondial acadien. We will also, once again, welcome the barques and brigs, the square-riggers and schooners, as the tall ships sail back to Nova Scotia for the second time in four years.

This year also marks the 25th anniversary of the Nova Scotia International Tattoo. Through pipes and drums, stories and songs, the Tattoo has introduced thousands of people the world over to Nova Scotia's proud military history, our musical talent, our culture, and our character.

Whether it's the International Tattoo, Celtic Colours, the Antigonish Highland Games, or so many other world-class attractions and first-class events, Nova Scotia shines, not just with talent, but with well-deserved pride.

SO MUCH WITHIN REACH

My Government believes that confidence breeds success. We further believe that Nova Scotia's future success will not be limited by our abilities, but only by our imaginations.

We imagine a day when more Nova Scotians are packing their bags - not to leave - but to come home; home to a good, steady job, to homes burning Nova Scotia gas, to healthy, safe schools that inspire a never-ending love of learning.

We imagine a day when the parent of every newborn has the support they need to help their son or daughter get off to a healthy start, when every child can read by Grade 1, and every young Nova Scotian learns a trade or earns a degree that leads to a good job right here at home.

We imagine a day when adult illiteracy is a thing of the past, when every Nova Scotian has access to a family doctor, when there is no such thing as a child with type II diabetes.

We imagine a day when our harbours are clean, and the last remnants of old industry are replaced by green space or office space; when you can drive from one end of Nova Scotia to the other on a single twinned highway.

We imagine a day when we are recognized as one of the world's foremost medical and research centres, when we are the country's number one tourist destination, when we are known as the music, film and festival capital of Canada, and when the rest of the world turns to Nova Scotia as a leader in promoting healthy, safe and sustainable communities.

We don't have to stretch our imaginations to see that these, and so many other things, are within reach.

What we must do is constantly remind ourselves of our own potential and tell the world about our many advantages.

Nova Scotia has the best-educated people in the country.

We have 10 universities, two among the best three in the country.

We have the Nova Scotia Community College with 13 campuses across the province providing state-of-the art training in over 100 programs.

We have medical and applied research facilities doing ground-breaking research in the areas of brain recovery, the life sciences, ocean sciences and biogenetics.

We have two of the country's leading tertiary-care facilities, providing advanced care to families, women, and children.

We have the second deepest, ice-free port in the world - with rail connections that can get products to major markets in the mid-U.S. a full day faster than anywhere else on the eastern seaboard.

We're home to some of the world's most successful and progressive companies - Stanfields, Clearwater, High Liner Foods, Michelin, Tesma, Greenbrier, IMP Aerospace, Acadian Sea plants, Composites Atlantic, Register.com, Xerox, Convergys, Bowater, Kimberly-Clark, Stora - to name but a few.

We have a steady, reliable workforce.

We are the most connected province in the country, with high-speed internet service within minutes of wherever you are.

We have first-class hotels, world-class resorts, great theatre, fabulous music, incredible scenery, and a vibrant flourishing culture.

We have all of this, and so much more.

Most of all, we have people who know and care about their neighbours.

Nova Scotians volunteer more of their time to help the elderly, the sick, the poor, and those in need of care and comfort than any other Canadians.

Something that speaks volumes about our character, our way of life - about our values.

Values my Government shares with Nova Scotians.

Values like helping those in need, living within our means, doing what we say we will do, and expecting more of ourselves and each other.

Everything we have, and all that we are, position Nova Scotia to be so much more than it already is.

My Government's commitment is to continue to work with you to promote our advantages, build on our progress, and protect what we value.

My Government's commitment is to continue to grow a modern, diverse economy so we can continue to invest in a better future for you and your children.

Nova Scotians have every right to be proud and very good reason to be confident.

Because, we've turned the corner.

WE'VE TURNED THE CORNER

Last year my Government introduced the first truly balanced budget in 40 years. A major milestone that lifted a heavy millstone that was weighing us down and holding us back.

And despite a stubborn debt that has grown after 40 years of overspending, Nova Scotia's strong economy is slowly but surely leading to the day when it too will be gone.

My Government will continue to put in place the fiscal, economic, and social conditions that are needed to ensure the debt becomes less and less onerous.

My Government will continue to take the necessary steps so your children's future is more secure.

We will do so by continuing to do what we have in each and every year of our mandate. We will invest more in health, education, and roads.

We will do so by continuing to reduce the regulatory burden on business, and by supporting Nova Scotians who have good ideas - see them become a reality.

We will do so by launching a major new marketing effort that promotes Nova Scotia, not just as a place to visit, but as a home to invest and succeed.

We will do so by tabling the second balanced budget in a row.

And we will do so by lowering your taxes.

These are the conditions for prosperity we spoke of in 1999.

These are the conditions we have worked hard to achieve.

Most of all, these are the conditions that attract investment, create new jobs, and generate the revenues needed to pay for better services in future.

Lower taxes not only mean Nova Scotians get to keep more of what they earn. Lower taxes will make the difference between whether your child decides on a passport to somewhere else, or a place to live here in Nova Scotia. Because lower taxes help working families, they grow our economy, they are part of our plan, and they work.

And lower taxes will not come at the expense of a balanced budget. They will not come at the expense of better health care, better education, or better roads. On the contrary, lower taxes will lead to better health care for all, a better education for your child, and better roads for everyone.

Lower taxes will lead to an economy that is competitive and a future that is more secure.

The status quo will just mean others pull ahead, while we slip behind.

My Government knows the status quo is not a real option.

My Government also knows that what Nova Scotians want more than anything else is the assurance that when they need health care - or when someone they care about needs health care - it will be there for them.

And it will.

BETTER CARE... FASTER CARE

Better health care will be there in the form of more nurses at the bedside, more doctors in rural communities, more and better medical equipment, faster access to information, and shorter wait lists.

It will be there in the form of more health-care dollars, and stable, predictable funding, leading to better planning, better management, and better care.

Better health care will be there in the form of more guidance and support for new parents, more opportunities for young Nova Scotians to be physically active, and better services to support children and youth deal with emotional or behavioural problems.

These are the requirements for a healthier Nova Scotia we spoke of in 1999.

These are the measures we have been working hard to put in place.

These are the priorities for a healthier Nova Scotia we will continue to build on.

Presently, Nova Scotia has the second-highest doctor to patient ratio in the country. Over the last four years, Nova Scotians have benefited from a net gain of 199 new doctors.

We also have more nurses per capita than most provinces. In the last year alone, we recruited more than 100 nurses from outside of Nova Scotia.

Yet more needs to be done to ensure we have the right number and mix of health-care professionals to meet Nova Scotia's future needs.

Recently, my Government released Your Health Matters, a comprehensive plan that builds on the significant progress already made in training, recruiting, and retaining more nurses through Nova Scotia's Nursing Strategy—more doctors through our physician recruitment efforts.

Our plan means more nurses, doctors, and medical laboratory technologists will be trained. Our plan also includes incentives so more graduates stay in Nova Scotia to care for you.

It also identifies how our health-care providers can work better together, including expanding the number of community clinics where nurses, doctors, nurse practitioners, paramedics, and others work side by side to deliver smarter, better care.

Our plan also means Nova Scotia's health-care professionals, will have the medical equipment, the advanced technology, and the information needed to diagnose and treat you faster, so you can get back on your feet, back to work, and back to your families faster.

But our plan isn't just about treating you in hospital when you're sick. It's about doing more to help you stay healthy.

Our new Office of Health Promotion is spearheading a number of new efforts to improve the health and fitness of Nova Scotians, particularly young Nova Scotians. Healthy Beginnings, Active Kids Healthy Kids, the Sport Futures Leadership Program, our Tobacco Control Strategy, and new efforts to encourage healthy eating habits in school and at home, will lead to healthier kids and a healthier, more productive province.

From the parents of newborns to the children of aging parents, my Government is making the kind of investments that will lead to greater security and greater peace of mind for Nova Scotians in need of care.

My Government recently announced an additional $10 million to help seniors better manage the high cost of prescription drugs.

We also protected more of the assets of seniors in long-term care, lightening the financial burden faced by the 20 per cent of residents who contribute to their own care. And soon, we will announce another important step in our plan to fully assume the health-care costs for all seniors living in nursing homes.

As well, new investments in home care and additional support for family caregivers will soon mean more Nova Scotians get the support they need to continue to live at home. In addition to increasing financial incentives to support family caregivers, my Government will take steps to protect the employment status of Nova Scotians who are providing care and comfort to Nova Scotians in the last stages of life. Legislation that mirrors proposed federal legislation will be introduced so that Nova Scotian families can spend more time with a loved one receiving palliative care at home.

Beyond the physical needs of Nova Scotians, is the need to do more to address the mental health and well-being of Nova Scotians.

Again, my Government is leading in this important area.

Recently, Nova Scotia became the first province in the country to introduce comprehensive mental health standards for diagnosis and treatment. My Government also announced two intensive care treatment teams for children and youth, along with a new mental health residential treatment facility.

My Government knows there are no borders or boundaries when it comes to Nova Scotians needing mental health services. We will therefore expand the range and quality of services from one end of Nova Scotia to the other, with additional money this year for more professionals in each of our district health authorities.

Despite the huge pressures brought on by our aging population, by a global shortage of health-care professionals, and by the increasing costs of prescription drugs, my Government is responding in a way that will ensure when you need health care - when someone you care about needs health care - it will be there for you.

Health care will be there for you.

And so will a better education for your child.

A BETTER START... A MORE PROMISING FUTURE

My Government knows that more than anything else, the key to Nova Scotia's future success is the investments we make in our children today.

That is why we released Learning for Life, a plan that provides more one-on-one teaching time in the critical early years through smaller class sizes. A plan that will see more teachers and specialists, more books, math tools, and computers in our schools.

A plan that puts the basics first, so that over time, Nova Scotia's students come second to no one.

Our plan also means parents will have more and better information to determine the progress of their child, including a new common report card that clearly measures every child's progress against expected results.

We are also taking action to involve parents in a more meaningful way through efforts to strengthen their role on school advisory councils. As well, we are taking steps to improve individual school performance, with the longer-term goal of establishing a province-wide system for school accreditation.

More teaching time in math and language arts, new grammar handbooks to support effective communication, more professional development for our teachers, and more professional staff to support students with special needs- these are just a few of the new initiatives my Government is taking to support your child's success, not just in school but in life.

And just as we have over the last three years, my Government will continue to invest in healthy, safe places to learn, with significant new dollars for new school construction, renovations, and repairs.

My Government is working to ensure our youngest students get off to a good start. We're also working hard to ensure our older students get off to a promising future.

Over the past three years, my Government opened up hundreds of new opportunities for young Nova Scotians to go to community college. As well, we expanded and improved access to more apprenticeship programs through the Virtual campus of the Nova Scotia Community College.

But still too many are waiting for their chance to learn a trade, develop the skills, or gain the knowledge they need to find a good job.

Our growing and changing economy means Nova Scotia is facing skill shortages, not just in emerging technologies but in the traditional trades.

My Government will continue to work with industry, business, labour, and all of our partners in education, so that existing business can continue to grow - so that new investment dollars come to Nova Scotia - so that Nova Scotians are first in line to fill the jobs of the future.

Tomorrow, my Government will release details on one of the single biggest investments ever made in post-secondary education in Nova Scotia. More than an investment in education, it will be a down payment on a better future for all Nova Scotians.

My Government is also adding to the investments we have made in our universities. Again this year, my Government will build on our efforts to restore the deep funding cuts made in the mid-1990s.

This, along with our recently announced student debt-assistance plan, will help contain rising tuition and make the cost of post-secondary education more manageable for Nova Scotia students.

In addition to new investments in P to 12, our community colleges, and universities, my Government will continue to expand and improve Nova Scotia's apprenticeship programs. We will introduce a new apprenticeship act and provide Nova Scotians greater access to technical training from either home or work.

Our efforts to eliminate Nova Scotia's skills gap are not limited to young Nova Scotians. Nova Scotia's first School for Adult Learning is growing by leaps and bounds. As a result of this important initiative, over 4,000 Nova Scotians are improving their change for a better future for themselves and their families.

My Government is responding to the need to get our youngest students off to a better start, to close the skills gap, and to eliminate adult illiteracy.

These are the requirements for a better future we spoke of in 1999.

These are the areas in which we are making significant investments.

These are the areas we will continue to build, so our economy continues to grow.

A NEW AGE OF PROSPERITY

A growing economy is crucial to ensuring we have the means to continue to invest in a healthier Nova Scotia and a better future for our children.

Since 1999, 26,000 new jobs were created in Nova Scotia— 80 per cent of them full-time jobs.

My Government is committed to working with Nova Scotians to see this number grow. We are determined to set the stage for a new age of prosperity.

Back-to-back balanced budgets, better roads, a skilled workforce, reliable health care, and lower taxes are all key to growing a modern, progressive economy.

My Government is delivering on all of these and much more.

New research dollars are helping our universities and research facilities turn innovative ideas into medical breakthroughs or commercial success stories.

Less red tape is making it faster for a new business to get started or easier for an existing business to expand.

Our economic growth and energy strategies are identifying new markets and new opportunities for Nova Scotia's traditional industries to expand or laying the foundation for emerging industries to flourish.

A good beginning my Government will build on.

My Government knows that Nova Scotia would not have such a promising oil and gas industry, such a growing information and technology sector, or such a strong tourism, film, or cultural presence, if it were not for the men and women who see a need, who take the risk, and who deliver the goods and services that are helping these industries expand and our economy grow.

Small business is the backbone of the Nova Scotia economy.

To support existing small business, and to encourage new small business start-ups, my Government will bring Nova Scotia's Small Business Tax threshold in line with the most recent federal budget.

We will also extend, amend, and improve existing vehicles for accessing venture capital, and seek new opportunities for business to acquire more working capital. For example, as announced earlier this week, my Government is doubling the size of InNOVAcorp's Nova Scotia First Fund. This fund is helping to transform innovative ideas into successful companies - opening up new markets and creating new jobs in the process.

Mr Government will also cut more red tape.

As well, we will continue to help struggling businesses succeed and successful companies grow. We will do more to help local business identify untapped opportunities for raising new capital, more to help Nova Scotian companies expand their markets both at home and abroad by expanding our Business Retention and Expansion Program.

My Government will also support small, medium, and large business by launching a major new marketing effort to promote the quality and range of Nova Scotia products, to bring more Nova Scotians back home, and more tourists from away. Brand Nova Scotia will let the world know that Nova Scotia is a wonderful place to live, work, and raise a family. It will also remind Nova Scotians why they have every right to feel proud and very good reason to feel confident.

And lower taxes will help every Nova Scotia business, whether it's a business of three or 300. Lower taxes will mean more Nova Scotians have more money to spend at the local hardware store or corner store. Lower taxes will mean Nova Scotia businesses have more money to invest in their own success.

My Government knows well, that safe highways and good roads are vital, not just so you can get to work or get your child off to school safely, but because they are a must for getting our products to market and more tourists to visit.

Since 1999, My Government has reversed the earlier cuts to our transportation budget that allowed our roads to fall into disrepair. To date, we have spend an additional $100 million to address what is clearly Nova Scotia's most pressing infrastructure need.

This year, Nova Scotians will see more of their taxes at work with another significant investment in safer roads, better bridges, and twinned highways.

As well, the people of Cape Breton will see rail service continue, and the people who fly in and out of Halifax, more improvements to Atlantic Canada's busiest airport.

My Government knows that transportation is vital to a growing economy.

We also know that a major population boom in and around our capital city is creating unique transportation problems for the citizens of HRM, as well as the thousands of Nova Scotians who travel into Halifax for work every day from neighbouring counties.

My Government will therefore work to create a Capital District Transportation Authority to identify new opportunities for resolving transportation issues within the capital region.

We will also work at creating a provincial Capital Commission to examine ways to better protect Nova Scotia's valuable heritage sites, as well as to maximize the public benefit of provincially owned properties.

My Government recognizes that rural Nova Scotia faces unique challenges of its own.

We also know that the best way to ensure every region of Nova Scotia benefits from the new opportunities of the future is to reach out to the people who know their communities best.

We will therefore hold a series of discussions with community leaders from across the province on issues vital to strengthening rural Nova Scotia. An initiative that will complement the efforts of Nova Scotia Business Incorporated, which is presently meeting with business men and women across the province, to identify opportunities that lead to the future growth of our communities— the prosperity of all our people.

Supporting innovative ideas and rewarding initiative, building better roads and highways, and establishing the fiscal climate needed to promote Nova Scotia's economic well-being and social progress; these are the conditions for building a better future we spoke of in 1999.

These are the measures we have worked hard to put in place.

These are the things we will continue to deliver on—in a way that protects what we value.

Nova Scotia is a beautiful package wrapped tight by the Atlantic Ocean.

From the spectacular view from atop MacKenzie Mountain, to the picturesque fishing villages along Nova Scotia's Acadian Shore, Nova Scotia is a wonderful mix of land and seascapes.

We have mountains and valleys, rivers that run for miles, and lakes around practically every corner. We have great beaches and hiking trails, species in abundance ... species at risk.

But along with our natural blessings come new challenges. The challenge of redeeming industrial waste sites, of cleaning our harbours, renewing our forests, and protecting our farmlands.

Again, My Government is responding.

The stacks at Sysco are down, and a short list of real options for cleaning up the Sydney tarponds is in the hands of local residents. My Government is determined to work with the federal government and the local community, to turn one of Canada's worst toxic waste sites into one of the world's most successful environmental achievements, and in the process, advance the economic and social interests of the people of Cape Breton.

We will also continue to invest in clean harbours for the people of Halifax, Lunenburg, and Sydney, and better water and sewer services for Nova Scotians from one end of the province to the other.

Clean drinking water, environmentally safe farming, clean air, and smart forestry practices are all essential to our quality of life, as well as our economic growth. Again, My Government is responding.

Our Water Strategy will mean our water is cleaner. Our Energy Strategy will mean our air is more pure.

We're looking at wind to fuel our turbines and clean gas to help fuel our economy.

As a result of a new, more reasonable, market-driven approach to gas distribution, Nova Scotia's offshore gas will soon come ashore, heating our homes and offices, and bringing new business, new industry, and new jobs to our province in the process.

Other initiatives, too, are helping protect our environment and support a growing and sustainable economy.

This year, My Government will continue our efforts to support Nova Scotia's farming families, by putting in place a new Agriculture Policy Framework that will give them greater security, greater peace of mind.

We're also taking measures to ensure our forests continue to be a source of livelihood and pleasure for Nova Scotians. New partnerships have increased funding to replenish our forests and new measures have been taken to ensure smarter forest practices. And again, this year, and as part of our Forest Strategy, My Government will introduce a new Code of Forest Practice.

My Government has also entered into new partnership agreements, with agencies such as the Nature Conservancy of Canada and Ducks Unlimited, committing more dollars to acquire more valuable coastal property, more dollars to protect species at risk.

As well, My Government recently designated McNabs and Lawlor Islands as a provincial park, and acquired the spectacular lands of Cape Split for Nova Scotians to continue to enjoy for generations to come.

Our growing economy not only means we can invest in better health care, better education, and better roads. Our growing economy gives us the means to reward sacrifice, to reach out to families in need, and to reinforce and renew our commitment to our children and their future.

Nova Scotia has shown vision and leadership by providing families, be they among the working poor.....or the poor looking for work, more support in providing for their children. We eliminated the clawback on the National Child Benefit and extended Pharmacare coverage so families moving off welfare had time to get back on their feet.

We also opened up 400 full-and part-time day care spaces. As well, 200 subsidized and portable spaces mean that parents can move on to something better for themselves and their children, without wondering or worrying about whether or not quality day care will be there for their child.

Since 1999, these and other measures, along with our growing economy, have helped more than 9,000 Nova Scotians move away from income assistance and on to a new life of self-sufficiency.

My Government looks forward to building on the measures we have already taken to support families in need, and to the new federal dollars promised for early childhood development, every cent of which we will use to support the healthy development of our children.

My Government also welcomes Ottawa's contribution in support of our efforts to provide better housing for Nova Scotia's low- and modest-income earners. Over the next five years, Nova Scotia, along with its housing partners and the federal government, will spend a minimum of $38 million to build or renovate at least 1,500 affordable housing units.

While we welcome new federal dollars to support early childhood development.... and better, more-affordable housing, we remain disappointed with Ottawa's lack of commitment on many other fronts, including its failure to ensure Nova Scotians receive speedy justice.

My Government will therefore make a significant investment to ensure justice is not denied because it is delayed. We will increase our contribution to the Nova Scotia Legal Aid Commission so that low-income Nova Scotians are not put at risk, or their access to justice put in jeopardy.

My government will also ensure Nova Scotia's firefighters are treated justly and fairly. Legislation will be introduced to ensure both professional and volunteer firefighters are compensated for cancer and other diseases resulting from on-the-job exposure to smoke and hazardous chemicals.

We will also ensure Nova Scotia consumers are treated fairly. We know that the rising cost of automobile insurance is creating hardship for many Nova Scotians, particularly seniors, students, working families, and small business men and women. My Government recently released a discussion paper, asking Nova Scotians for their input on ways to curtail or reduce insurance premiums. The results of these consultations will determine the future actions of My Government.

My Government is committed to advancing the economic and social interests of all Nova Scotians.

Since coming to government, we have increased support for Nova Scotians with physical disabilities, including making our public buildings and transportation services more accessible. But still more needs to be done, and will be done.

We have also expanded community-based supports for Nova Scotians with addictions, and for families of children who are emotionally, behaviourally, or mentally challenged. But still more needs to be done, and will be done.

My Government further understands that the future prosperity of Nova Scotia depends on the full and active participation of all of its citizens in the social and economic life of our province.

We recognize, as well, that this means doing more to support the ingenuity and progress of those who contribute so much to Nova Scotia's cultural diversity.

Last June, My Government signed an historic agreement with Nova Scotia's 13 Mi'kmaq Chiefs and the federal government that started formal negotiations on treaty and treaty-related issues. This important step has helped rebuild our relationships with Nova Scotia's Aboriginal people, and set the stage for resolving outstanding issues in a way that advances the interests of all Nova Scotians.

My Government is also pleased to continue to work with Nova Scotia's African Canadian community, in providing support for new business start-ups through the Black Business Initiative.

We've made good progress in many areas, but we are by no means satisfied the job is near complete.

My Government will continue to work at building a better future for you and a brighter future for your children.

These are the commitments we made in 1999.

These are the commitments we have been working hard to fulfil.

These are the commitments we will continue to build on.

In 1999 there was no plan to provide better health care.

There was no plan to improve education.

No plan to grow our economy.

Today, we have plans for all of this and more.

And today, as promised, those plans are well under way, and the results are beginning to show.

The deficit is gone; lower taxes are on the way.

More Nova Scotians are working; fewer are on welfare.

More roads are being fixed; more bridges are being repaired; more schools are being built.

There are more resources in our classrooms to support student success; more doctors and nurses to provide better care.

There is all of this, and a lot more.

My government didn't just imagine what was possible, we got to work to make it happen.

And while much has been accomplished, more needs to be done.

My Government is determined to continue to work with you to see that it does.

My Government is determined to see that Nova Scotia, the best province, in the best country in the world, gets even better.

Thank you.

Her Honour was then pleased to retire.

Mr. Speaker took the Chair.

Mr. Speaker then advised the House that Her Honour the Lieutenant Governor had been pleased to make a speech to the Members met in General Assembly, of which speech for greater accuracy he had obtained a copy which the Chief Clerk would now read.

On motion duly passed by the House, Her Honour's Speech was taken as read.

Mr. Hurlburt, Member for Yarmouth, then moved the following Address in Reply to the Speech of Her Honour the Lieutenant Governor and moved the same do pass.

“TO HER HONOUR,
THE HONOURABLE MYRA A. FREEMAN

SPEAKER'S RULING

“Before we begin the daily routine, I wanted to rule on an issue that was brought forward by the Honourable Member for Cape Breton South. The Honourable Member for Cape Breton South rose on a point of privilege last Friday and the matter was taken under advisement by myself, and I would like to deal with the matter this afternoon.

The thrust of the Honourable Member's complaint was that an advertisement placed in a local newspaper was to the effect, that certain government policies were described as being implemented, rather than yet to be considered by this House. I believe the Honourable Member presented that case at that time. His complaint was that the advertisement was akin to the situation that presented itself in Ontario in 1997.

I reviewed both the Honourable Member's complaint and as well, the decision of the Speaker in Ontario. I am satisfied at this point there was no prima facie breach of privilege based on that newspaper advertisement at the time. The advertisement was clearly for information purposes only and does not obstruct or impede either the House or its members from discharging their duties.

The other point of privilege brought forward by the Honourable Member for Cape Breton South was to the effect that the Premier's announcement outside the House on the date for the delivery of the budget was in fact, again - in his estimation - a breach of privilege. Again, for the reasons I have stated earlier, I find the announcement to be in essence informational only, as opposed to being a prima facie breach of privilege.”

SPEAKER'S RULING

“The Honourable Member for Glace Bay rose on a point of personal privilege on Tuesday, April 8th. The crux of the Member's complaint was that a public pamphlet, produced by the Government, breached the privileges of the House and its Members in that it, among other things, set out details of the Taxpayer Refund Program and Personal Income Tax Rates, when those matters had not been fully dealt with by the House.

The Honourable Member relied on a decision of the Speaker of the Ontario House, on somewhat similar facts in making his submission. I have looked very carefully at the Ontario decision and I've come to the conclusion that the Ontario Speaker found no prima facie breach of privilege on the facts of that matter. I too find there is no prima facie breach of privilege.”

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker made the following Ruling raised by the Member for Richmond on April 17th.

“On Thursday, April 17th, the Member for Richmond rose on a Point of Privilege. The Member complained that during debate in the Sub-committee on Supply concerning the Estimates of the Minister of Justice and Attorney General, the Minister of Justice had refused to answer a question and had asserted “Ministerial Privilege.” While the authorities do not contain anything under that specific heading, the Rules, Usages and Precedents governing this House are clear that a Minister is not bound to answer every question put to that Minister.

Previous Speakers have ruled on this point and the authorities support that principle. On November 12, 1974, the then Speaker the Honourable Vincent MacLean had this to say:

‘A minister may decline to answer a question without stating the reason for his refusal and insistence of a member is out of order. No debate is permissible. A minister may refuse to answer on the ground of public interest and that refusal of a minister to answer on this ground cannot be raised as a matter of privilege. A member can ask a question but he cannot insist upon an answer.’

This is set out in Beauchesne.

He also went on to say:

‘The practice is again confirmed in Philip Lundy’s book On The Speaker, when he states, “Any Minister has the right to answer or not to answer if he thinks proper, and if he pleases to enter into a justification of his conduct and give reason before he gives his answers to the question.’

Marleau also points out that a Minister’s refusal to answer a question may not be questioned or treated as the subject of a point of order or point of privilege. Rule 1 of our Rules provides that proceedings in all committees are conducted under the same rules as the House. This includes the Sub-committee on Supply. Accordingly, I find that there is not a prima facie case of a matter of privilege.

The Member also asked me to rule whether the Minister’s knowledge of certain matters constituted a breach of the Code of Ministerial Conduct or a breach of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.

The Member would know that any questions regarding the Ministerial Code of Conduct are to be raised with the Conflict of Interest Commissioner under the procedures set out in the Members and Public Employees Disclosure Act and not with the Speaker.

Similarly, it is not the role of the Speaker to make legal findings on whether provincial statutes have been breached, so I will not be considering either of these points.”
